

Homewell Practice

We are an enthusiastic and supportive group of GPs with an extensive and experienced Multidisciplinary clinical and admin team. We pride ourselves on being able to offer a safe and enjoyable environment to practice in and there is very rarely a day go by when we haven't had the opportunity to laugh with a colleague or patient!

With the changing face of General Practice and the increasing pressures, a good team, with a can do, forward thinking view, is essential, and we have it by the bucket load. We genuinely care about our patients, staff and colleagues and our ethos reflects this. Don't take our word for it, come and see for yourself and spend a day with us to see if we may be what you need for a really rewarding career.

We fully recognise the need to look at working models outside of the norm in order to fit individuals work/life balance and we encourage engagement on the many opportunities presenting to new GPs now in order to support future development and career diversity.

Whether it's early on in your career and you may need some mentorship in a Training Practice or if you are more experienced and looking for somewhere that ticks all the boxes, find out more about the Practice by visiting: www.homewellpractice.co.uk/practice-information/vacancies/ where you will find a link to a summary of our team and further information about all the activities and interests you can tap into in this area. If you would like to discuss with us in more detail all the opportunities please do so by making an initial introduction via our email address: SEHCCG.Homewellcurllepractice-enquiries@nhs.net
